

I. of II. Bank of the United States v. Deveaux

1. What argument did the Bank use to claim that it had a right to sue Deveaux (a tax collector from the state of Georgia) in a federal court?
2. Did the Supreme Court accept the Bank's argument? Explain.
3. Toward the end of the case, the Court asserts: "...the Court is of the opinion that the averment in this case is sufficient." Explain what an "averment" is.
4. The case concludes with:
 - a.) judgment reversed;
 - b) plea in abatement overruled; and
 - c) cause remanded.

Explain each of these terms.

II. Metaphor

Following are sets of various linguistic metaphors (where the metaphorical expressions have been underlined). For each set state what you think would be an appropriate conceptual metaphor that would tie together the sentences of the set. An example follows:

Linguistic metaphors:

You've come a long way in your career.

Like all married couples we've had our ups and downs.

Writing a thesis will be the last hurdle for getting my B.A.

Conceptual metaphor: LIFE IS A JOURNEY

1. Linguistic metaphors:

Don Juan was known for his many conquests.

Cleopatra had hundreds of suitors pursuing her.

George fought for her love, but Mark, his best friend, won her.

Conceptual metaphor: _____

2. Linguistic metaphors:

a. Tom's grades have dropped since he's been dating Julie.

b. The stock market took a dive the first week of November.

c. Martha's health declined rapidly after her operation.

Conceptual metaphor: _____

Continued on next page

3. Linguistic metaphors:

- a. You're wasting my time.
- b. This gadget will save you hours.
- c. That flat tire cost me forty-five minutes.

Conceptual metaphor: _____

4. Linguistic metaphors:

That theory explains her behavior.

Life has cheated me.

Inflation is eating up our profits.

Conceptual metaphor: _____